The Interpod Orthotic Library

The Interpod orthotic library is made up of a range of orthoses similar to traditional “Custom Made” orthoses however they are premade and ready for immediate use. The Library is an extensive group of orthoses that has been clinically designed to treat symptoms caused mechanically when the tissues are overloaded with stress. Design features within each orthotic act to alter the loads placed on the pathologic tissues and reduce them to a level from which they can recover.
